Grace

We stand before Good Friday and Easter, the days of God's over-powering deeds in history, the deeds in which God's judgment and grace were made visible to all the world: Judgment, in those hours when Jesus Christ, the Lord, hung on the cross.

Grace, in the hour when death was devoured by victory.

No human beings acted here. No, God alone did this.

He walked in the path to the people in endless love. He judged what is human. And He gave grace beyond merit.

Dietrich Bonhoeffer, The Mystery of Easter

God's eternal love or good-will toward His creatures, is the fountain whence all His mercies flow to us; and that love of God is great love, and that mercy is rich mercy.
